JOHN E. CARSON

A MURDER MYSTERY WITH A TWIST!

Without his wife and co-author, best selling author, Christopher Evans is literally at a loss for words. With three months left to fulfill his contract and deliver another novel he rents the long vacant, Zimmerman House for the summer, promising to 'clean the place up a bit,' and hoping for some much needed inspiration. Inspiration is not a problem as Christopher discovers the house is not as vacant as it seems.

But inspiration has a price and though he never really believed in ghosts...

Believing in them now might just be his Last Resort!

“Last Resort is a haunting novel about a bestselling author, bereft of his wife and co-author, struggling to fulfill his publication contract and create another novel. As he rents a long-vacant house for a summer retreat, he discovers a surprising secret about the dwelling - the house is not quite so vacant after all. He’s never truly believed in ghosts before, yet believing in them now just might be his Last Resort! An at times witty, at times darkly serious novel in first-person perspective, about the struggle to create and learning how to adapt to new challenges - and unexpected mysteries.”

--Midwest Book Review

John E. Carson has been writing since the age of 14. One of ten children he went to work at an early age to help his struggling parents.

Now, after forty years, he has realized his life long dream of becoming a published author.

Beginning in 1999, with his song, Deep of the Night, recorded by singer/entertainer, Charlie Roth, John has continued publishing poems and stories, reaching an ever widening audience and breaking into national print in Ideals Books in 2005 with his poem, Painting in Thread and in 2006 with his first novel, with Aspirations Media.

A father and grandfather, John lives with his wife and co-author, Marlene Rose in St. Cloud, Minnesota.
